MOCKERY OF REFORM.

WHY should the State Democratic platform emphasize so strongly the necessity for retrenchment? The party has had contreof every branch of the government for the past two years. The legislature was under the thumb of the same party and every bill had to be O. K.'d by the party bosses before it could be introduced in either branch of the lawmaking body. In the personnel of the various commissions and boards, devised to furnish employment to those who could not make a living without assistance of a paternal Africa. government, Democrats held control and their votes decided what from money was to be spent and where it was to be disbursed. With all years. the machinery of state in their hands they now admit the showing is not creditable or one on which they can afford to make a campaign. Of course they will have a lot of explaining to do, for the Democrats at Carson City are a pretty shifty bunch and ever ready with an excuse or pretext to account for the maintenance of the Old Ladies' Home in the capitol at the expense of taxpayers. But, if the Democrats, with everything at their command, confess that the past biennial period has been marked by extravagance, why should they not content themselves with the admission and a promshould they not content themselves with the admission and a promise to do better rather than to indulge in a bald statement implying the reign of pillage is due to others. The inquiring taxpayer is prone to ask why was not this era of reform begun two years ago, not after two score new officeholders have been fattened at the should they not content themselves with the admission and a prompublic crib during two of the leanest years the taxpayers of Nevada have been called on to endure. Since it is admitted that the administration for two years has been run with absolute abandon with declared war against Germany and with this view, but they realized that an irresistable army was absolutely istration for two years has been run with absolute abandon with regard to finances, then what assurance has the voter that there will be any change in the future. By their platform the Democrats have crucified themselves and furnished their opponents the best conjunction with Britain she was shaped a military machine that far argument that could be devised for a complete house cleaning at the bound by treaty to defend. WILL NOT SUPPORT THATCHER.

WILL NOT SUPPORT THATCHER.

If other respects the life of the drop of the candidates of its own party there must be something of the candidates of its own party there must be something pretty raw in the circumstances which brought about his nomination. The Elko Independent is one of these papers and it serves to be impressed with the magnitude of the crists. The military folk claimed that they wanted one was shattered. He was silent but million young men, but the vast mass for too the people would not listen to the proposal. The newspapers in a half-swore vengeance and tried to force notice on the attorney-general that it will not stand for another dose of his odious administration. Under the heading, "This Paper Is Not for Thatcher," the Independent declares itself for a strictly partisan ticket, but wants decent men to be placed before the electors of the state. The editorial follows:

In fulfillment of an obligation, the present editors of the Independent imposed upon themselves in taking over this paper, and which we made known to the public in the first issue, we are going to lay aside political ties where we believe the public welfare is involved and support for office such men as we truly believe will render best public service.

"The Independent is, as it has been, Democratic through and through, but there is something more sacred than patriotism, and that is true Americanism. If we know that the Democratic party has erred in nominating a man for an executive or judicial office, particularly where there is no principal of government involved. merely a name, then we refuse to stand behind that party's mistake and will take the stand for the public welfare.

"We will not shield or tolerate corruption in our own party any more than in the opposing parties, but will strike deep wherever we find it, let the chips fall where they may.

"A case in point is that of George B. Thatcher, Democratic candidate to succeed himself as attorney-general. After a careful investigation we believe that the Democratic party has grossly erred in making him the party choice for that high office and we regard it as a prostitution of our honor to advocate his election.

"Under the 'corrupt practice law' any article attacking his public record must be submitted to him before publication. This will be done, and then the public will be given through these col-
